Better iCore360® Banking Through Higher Learning

ICore360® Training At Your Fingertips, On Your Schedule

Using iCore360® proficiently can make a big difference in the efficiency, service and profitability of your bank. And the quickest route to mastering iCore360® is through specialized training by DCI education professionals.

Your iCore360®, Your Schedule

You already know that DCI delivers great training through our in-person or webinar classes. But what if you want to take an iCore360® course and the time frame for a scheduled class just doesn't work for you? The DCI University Online Campus is the answer.

The DCI University Online Campus provides FREE video-based, interactive iCore360® courses that are just like our on-site classroom training, but from the comfort and convenience of the iCore360® menu on your desktop and on your schedule. With a complete curriculum of training on all aspects, learning to master iCore360® has never been easier.

No Enrollment, No Tuition

Attending the DCI University Online Campus is easy. You simply login to iCore360® and select Library/DCI University from the main menu. There, you can view any available training course using the search field on the left side of the screen to select the desired category.

Comprehensive Instruction

Each online class is designed the same as our in-person training, narrated by a certified DCI instructor, with easy to follow videos showing actual iCore360® screens being used. And when you have completed a class, you can print and save an official certificate of completion.

More Options

The DCI University screen in iCore360® also gives you access to other educational resources, including:

- Quick "How To" videos related to any iCore360® screen you are using at the time (even while a customer is present), with a step-by-step summary that can be saved or printed for future reference.
- iCore360® Release courses that cover all enhancements or let you focus on just those that are of interest to you.
- All education class materials

With DCI University you can learn what you want, when you want, and take your iCore360® expertise to the next level for a competitive edge.

What would you like to learn today?

Core technology you can depend on . . . a relationship you can trust.

“We found everything we were looking for with iCore360.”
